No Government Operation
Meden Agan, and Ederle
We Will Not Trade
Comfort From Coolidge

By Arthur Brisbane

IN A LETTER to Congressman Reese of Tennessee, President Hoover announces his opposition to any government operation of power plants, declaring for private leasing of the nation's power. If the Senate votes for government operation of Muskegon, the President will veto the bill.

That seems to settle the farmers' dream of cheap fertilizer from Muskegon. The people built it but will not run it. No private power company will be suspected of producing cheap fertilizer.

On the other hand, the private power companies will make plenty of profit and, after all, what helps one group of American citizens, theoretically, helps them all.

Every little while, something reminds you of two words that the wise Greeks wrote above their temple doors, "Meden Agan," meaning "Shun Excess." Aristotle put it almost as briefly, "Not too much, not too little."

This time the "Meden Agan" reminder comes from Gertrude Ederle, who swam the English Channel, amazing the world for years ago. She has become almost entirely deaf, as the result of the 14 hours spent in the cold English Channel.

She had a wonderful triumph.
The President and Governor Smith congratulated her. New York gave her wonderful receptions. She refused vaudeville offers that would have made her a fortune. But, says she, "It wasn't worth it."

"Meden Agan."

Two ships from Archangel, loaded with Russian pulpwood, were forbidden to land cargoes of soil yesterday. Anchored near the Statue of Liberty, the ships were reminded that it is our brand of liberty we advertise, not the Russian brand.

There is talk of stopping all imports from Russia. If they understand American producers, the goods must be produced by Americans.

That will interest, and will not please some of our workmen and manufacturers.

It is also said that the American government is paying more than $100,000 worth of goods to Russia. But, says the Anti-Chinese committee in working for the goods to be sent to Russia.

We don't buy from Russia, and we don't want to buy from it.

Chills. Coolidge in the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, and other papers, suggest that those in charge of a "little encouragement" can look at the condition of the Federal Treasury.

That seems like advising the hungry to look through the window of a restaurant.
But figures quoted by Mr. Coolidge are encouraging.

The national debt has been reduced by $100,000,000 and now stands at a little over $100, $000,000,000. The interest charge has been practically cut in two, but is still over $100,000,000.

Mr. Coolidge also reminds you that "we have had five reductions of taxes which gives the people direct relief of about $2,000,000,000 yearly."

Credit for the draft of tax law, issuing new securities that cut the average interest rate below 4 per cent, says Mr. Coolidge.
Credit for the policy of economy "belongs to the President," but Mr. Coolidge doesn't say which President.

A little credit, also, although Mr. Coolidge doesn't mention it, belongs to the American citizens, who have been taxed out of the ten billion in bonds, and are taxed now to meet every foolishness that Congress can invent.

It is wise and interesting after each Sunday to review the sayings of the distinguished clergy, for instance.

The Rev. Dr. Wagner says too many are chained to the wheel of money. That's our trouble.

Canon J. Forbes Mitchell of Scotland says youth should be more intensely. His advice is something like that of Dante,
"Work as nature works in you."

Prof. Fraughton of the school of theology says earth's various faiths will merge. That would at least stop religious quarrels.
Babbi Morris Lichenstein says too much pleasure is the
"foe of our life."

Blaise Abbott of the Kentucky Protestant Episcopal Church says he uses to think women ran the United States, but knows now that children run it. He has confidence in the children.

The saddest religious news comes from Charles Steale, representing religious and semi-religious organizations. He says

R-100 WELL ON WAY ACROSS ATLANTIC

Huge Blimp Changes to More Direct Course in Her
Canadian Flight
Valencia, Ireland, July 29
—The wireless station here at 5:18 p. m. (12:18 p. m. Boston daylight time) received the following radio from the British dirigible R-100:
"Now 205 miles west of Malin Head, bound for Montreal."
Malin Head is 40 miles northeast of Belfast, Ireland, on the coast of Ireland.
Valencia is one of numerous coast cities on the British islands, having wireless stations. A wireless station at Valencia is the nearest to the R-100's present position.
A message received at 4 p. m.
(12 noon Boston time) read:
"R-100, heading for Montreal."
The position of the airship at this time was 54-60 north latitude and 12-30 west longitude.
Changes Course
From the positions given by the ship it was apparent that she was swinging in a southeasterly direction and that she was taking a much more direct route than at first planned when her itinerary called for skirting Cape Farewell on the southern tip of Greenland.
The R-100, heading for Montreal, was last reported by wireless that her position was 55-10 deg. north lat., 10-10 deg. west long. directly westward, out over the Atlantic. She started this westward course on July 28.

Mystery Baby Christened Bamberger

THE MARY MARY BAMBERGER

Although doctors, judges, scientists and hospital authorities may not be able to tell whether the baby is a Bamberger or not after the Chicago hospital mixup of babies, the Bambergers are convinced the child they now have possession of is theirs and have had him christened George Edward Bamberger, and this is a

PLAN 2 SUITS IN BABY MIXUP

Chicago, July 29 (AP)—The baby boy who was found in a Chicago hospital today became "John Doe."
As the infant's "best friend," Mrs.
Grace Dillert, a prominent club-woman, authorized Attorney Harrington O'Hara, counsel for the Wal-kens family, to file a $250,000 suit for "lost identity" damages against the staff of the Englewood Hospital, where the Watkins and Charles Bamberger babies were born June 28.

SWINGS WESTWARD

The position given, about 30 miles from the northwestern tip of Ireland, indicated that after leaving the coast of Scotland the R-100 swung directly westward, out over the Atlantic. She started this westward course on July 28.

DRIBBLE SCARS OVER ATLANTIC WITH 44

DRIBBLED FOR IN REAL AIRPORT

Commander Hopes to Reach
There on Thursday and Break All Records

Ward wing just as she reached the island of Overyay, off Arrylshire. The air ministry stated that at 2 p. m. (9 a. m. Boston time) the R-100 had reported her position as 55.24 north latitude and 7.50 west longitude.

The airship had soared up the Mull of Kintyre in a heavy fog, passing over the Mull at 11:30 (8:34 a. m. Boston time) and out across the Channel and followed the coastline to Cumbrell. Then she struck a course out over the Channel again to Stathin Island and from there northward.

The dirigible previously had been sighted over the Isle of Man.

There was some dismay over her slow progress, but it was believed here the ship's commander was looking for a favorable position before striking out across the Atlantic.

The R-100 left Cardington, near London, at 2:45 a. m. today on her 333rd voyage to St. Hubert air field at Montreal.

Forty-four persons went with the airship, 38 of them members of the crew, including the five officers, and the others in the capacity of technical observers or like.

Among them is Comdr. Sir Denzil Sturges, responsible for the ship's construction, and who has labored many years of effort and development upon it.

The voyage is expected to be completed inside of 60 hours, according to reports from the Cardington airfield at 10 a. m. Thursday, but wide margin on food and fuel was allowed for. The 200,000 pounds of food and 500,000 gallons of water in the storage tanks of the dirigible would be sufficient for at least five days, it was estimated and there are 20 tons of gasoline.

SMOKING ALLOWED

The flight, regarded largely in the light of an experiment by British air circles, is being made without paying passengers, without mail or freight.

Originally intended for high-speed passenger traffic, the dirigible has accommodations for 100 persons in its 32 cabins, with these in the sections, and a third deck of the three-deck passenger structure. On the lower deck there is a dining saloon with 56 chairs and two promenade decks, and there are smoking decks on the upper passenger deck.

Smoking is made possible, and there is a comfortable lounge compartment to that of the hotel. Hot meals are the order of the day, with drinks and food on ice if desired.

Warned by the frequent expert, upon other dirigibles have had with undesirable stoppages, Squadron Leader Booth posted a detachment of alert guards along the ship before the start to frustrate secret boarding by uninvited persons.

HAS SIX MOTORS

It is the second elaborate British venture into transatlantic dirigible flying. The first such trip was accomplished from Scotland to Minnesota in 1931 by the R-34, which was wrecked during a windstorm in 1931. The R-34 made her trip to America in 108 hours, carrying 31 persons, including a stowaway.

Women Barred From R-100 for This Trip

Cardington, Wales, July 29 (AP)—Those making the trip on the R-100 apparently looked upon it as a joyous adventure.

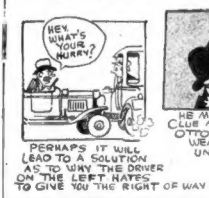

The officers and distinguished passengers drove up in motor cars, laughing merrily while members of the crew brought along their sweatshirts to ease the departure, most of them on bicycles.

The wife of Squadron Leader Booth drove her husband to the

LIBERALS ARE OVERTHROWN IN CANADA

Conservatives in a Sweeping Victory Elect 136 to
New Parliament

Ottawa, Ont., July 29 (AP)—After 12 years in power the Liberal Government of W. L. Mackenzie King has been overthrown. The Conservative party, headed by Richard Bedford Bennett, won a majority seats in the House of Commons in yesterday's general election.

With three of the 245 contest seats in the House of Commons still in doubt, results stood: Conservatives, 136; Liberals, 84; United Farmers, 10; Progressives, 2; Liberal-Progressives, 2; Labor, 1; Independents, 5.

RENETT IN POWER. When Mackenzie King submits his resignation to the governor-general the prime minister will be Bennett, a lawyer who has practiced for years in Calgary. He was born and educated in Nova Scotia. He has been Conservative leader three years. He is 56 years old and wealthy.

Victory for the Conservatives. Traditional proponents of a high protective tariff, was forecast early by an almost unprecedented upset in Quebec, Liberal stronghold. There they gained 29 seats, increasing the total to 24, and defeated two Liberal ministers.

ONE WOMAN ELECTED. Five Liberal ministers were defeated: Charles Dunning, minister of finance, whose last budget included tariff repeals against the United States; T. A. Cregar, minister of railways; Lucien Cannon, solicitor; Cyrus MacMillan, minister of fisheries; and W. K. Kay, minister without portfolio.

The women sought such as Agnes C. MacPhail, the first woman to enter Canada's House of Commons, also was elected.

The Maritime provinces changed their party allegiance. In New Brunswick, represented in the last Parliament by five Liberals and six Conservatives, the final count showed six Conservatives and one Liberal in Prince Edward Island. The three Liberals and one Conservative were replaced by three Conservatives and one Liberal.

Ontario's Conservative stronghold, reduced its Liberal representation.

special attention being given to double parking at the terminals.

Although it was announced at the start of this drive that cruising (taxicabs were to be penalized, none of the drivers in court today was charged with obstructing traffic by driving slowly through the street looking for business.

Judge Carr delivered his warning in response to Rep. Flinn's request, with which he complied, that the 35 cases be placed on file. He said:

"I want it distinctly understood that traffic violations and the whole traffic problem are no joke and will be treated as a serious matter in this court."

IN SERIOUS OFFENSE. "Substantial fines will continue to be levied against taxi drivers if they persist in violations of the rules and regulations."

"The public as a whole must take up this traffic problem and abide by the rules, and the taxi driver has no more right to violate the law than any other individual."

"All violations of the new regulations of the lighting system of new cabs will be dealt with as serious offenses when before court."

TO DISPOSE OF TOWERS. Disposition of the ornate traffic towers which gave way to lights in the new system will be decided by the two men who gave them to the city, Traffic Commissioner Joseph A. Stood at Washington and Winter St. and Arlington and Boylston Sts. Louis E. Stood, president of William Flinn's Sons Company, and William L. Sheker, head of the Palace Furniture Company.

Suggestions have been made that the towers should be placed at other congested traffic intersections, but the city has no right to take the towers off the streets until they consult the two donors. Mr. Kisteln is in Europe.

Lawman Says Amtorg Cannot Show Proof the Product Is Not Convict Produced

Washington, July 29 (AP)—Secretary Lawman after hearings by representatives of the Amtorg Trading Company, official Soviet business firm, against the exclusion of Russian pulpwood, today said no evidence had been produced to show the pulpwood was not produced by convict labor.

This was the basis for excluding the pulpwood. Representatives of the steamship company, exporters organizations and charterers added their protests to those of the Russians.

Louis Conich, representing Amtorg, told Lawman officers had gone forth at the loading of pulpwood in Soviet ports. He submitted a list of approximately 80 ships which had been chartered to carry Russian pulpwood to the United States.

Ten of the steamers, he said, he had had the cargo removed from Archangel and 42 were chartered to sail during the month of September. He said that no ships had sailed with pulpwood after August 1.

ARREST N. R. 100 BANK THEFT

Providence, July 29 (INS)—A warrant calling for the arrest of a prominent Rhode Island citizen, whose name was withheld, was issued today by U. S. Commissioner Fred A. Olin in connection with the investigation of the $248,000 shortage in the accounts of Peter Simionni, bookkeeper of the National Bank of Commerce.

A United States marshal went to serve the warrant while Simionni, who the third time during the day was escorted by U. S. Dist. Atty.

At the time of his arrest and release on bail Simionni told his story of the loss. He said a friend, a prominent automobile dealer, had asked him five years ago to cash an overdraft.

According to Simionni, the automobile man later said it was impossible for him to make payment and advised the bookkeeper to "cover up" threatening exposure Simionni said he did not profit one cent by the delinquency.

But according to him, he did not believe Simionni was telling all and that his investigation convinced him that at least some of the money went to finance liquor smuggling.

DEMOCRATS, IN HARMONY NOW, HAIL GOOD WORCESTER PARLEY

Expect Much Benefit to Parley; O'Connell, Absentee, Sees a Victory for Self

By BERNARD J. DOHERTY.

That the Worcester conference had accomplished tremendous good for the party was the practically unanimous opinion of party chieftains today.

State Chairman Frank J. Donahue declared that the gathering was as representative as any held by Democrats in years.

"Nobody controlled it," he pointed out. "It was very clear from the start that the delegates were free and untrammelled and were exercising their own judgment."

"The situation is ironing itself out and an exceptionally strong ticket seems assured. I believe that the conference accomplished a great deal of good for the party."

Ex-Mayor John F. Fitzgerald was impressed with the strength of the demand for representation on the ticket from the districts outside Boston.

"The conference," he said, "educated the delegates and no 'phony' candidates will be put forward. The party can now start. That is settled. They are all wise to the situation now."

He believed, he said, that if the delegates had done nothing else it had demonstrated what was expected of the direct primary in strengthening the party.

Joseph P. O'Connell, candidate for the nomination for United States senator, said his position was unchanged.

"Nor will it be changed," he declared emphatically. "I've got the fight won and they can't take it away from me."

NO ROOM FOR BOSSES

"I am glad I did not attend the conference. I think I showed good judgment. It was foreordained that there couldn't be any other result than what was expected. The Democratic party fought to get the direct primary on the statute books and would certainly do nothing now to imperil it. That was a foregone conclusion. Anything else would have been suicide."

"Bosses don't belong in the Democratic party. There is no room for them."

"It was hot weather and everything was more or less relaxed. It was a good thing for them to blow off steam."

O'Connell asserted that the vote he will get in Boston and outside will be a surprise.

"And when it comes down to an argument of fitness my opponent is going to tell and tell heavily," he said.

NO CONFERENCE TODAY

A report that a conference was to be held today between Joseph B. Ely of Westfield, candidate for Governor, whose conciliatory speech yesterday produced harmony in the convention when serious disorders threatened, with Mayor Edward J. Connelley, was without foundation.

None of the men mentioned had heard of any such proposal, they professed.

Within the next week or so, however, a conference will be held among the candidates themselves. It is understood, which is expected to bring about some settlements.

In any event, the politicians now look for a more active role upon the part of the Democratic electorate in the primary as a direct result of the Worcester conference.

Walsh Backs Move to Recover Bodies From Pinthis

THIS PICTURE SHOWS the tanker Pinthis that carried its crew to death when it sank in collision off Scituate. The Boston Evening American has launched a move to have the Navy and Coast Guard recover the bodies on the sunken vessel which was located by a diver.

The cost guard would be impossible for us to do so without navy help," Comdr. Munger said.

"At no place is the cost guard equipped for diving operations at great depths. Navy divers would be required and at the New London naval base divers are in readiness."

He suggested that Secretary Adams might order New London headquarters to proceed with the work.

below the ocean surface off Scituate with no efforts made to recover the bodies of 37 men carried down with her and restore them to their loved ones.

Yesterday a diver working for the insurance underwriters descended to the wreck and reported two bodies in good condition, were tangled in her superstructure. The bodies of the remaining 35 are believed to be in the engine room and in their bunks.

At the suggestion of the Boston American, Sen. Walsh wired Secretary of the Navy Charles Francis Adams and Rear Admiral Frederick C. Billard of the coast guard, asking co-operation of Government resources in the recovery of the bodies.

MAJOR ASKS FOR SEARCH

It was pointed out that successful diving operations were conducted by the navy in both the 3-4 and 4-4 disasters at greater depth than the water in which the ill-fated tanker now lies and that in this instance the recovery of the bodies would be the only and where both submarines were raised.

"The expense or work necessary to recovering the bodies of the Pinthis crew to their loved ones should not be considered," declared Mayor Edmund P. Talbot of Fall River.

Commander William M. Munter of the Boston base, eastern division of the coast guard, pointed out that the navy, at its New London base, has the necessary divers and equipment to accomplish the feat.

"Everything that I can do, I am too glad to recover the bodies, but it would be practically impossible for us to do so without navy help," Comdr. Munger said.

SEAFARERS FOR RELATIVES.

Mayor Talbot declared: "Inasmuch as the Coast Guard is not equipped to conduct the operations, it is the duty of the navy to do so."

UNDERWRITERS IN CONTROL.

The Pinthis was owned by the Lake Tankers Corp. and was under charter to the C. C. Mallory Co. of New York, carrying gasoline for the Shell Oil Co. from Fall River to Portland, Me. The night she was struck off Cape Cod Gas Buoy 4.

Capt. Frederick Gower, Fall River port captain for the C. C. Mallory Co., declared he did not know just what will be done, but that the line would like to see the bodies recovered.

He pointed out that once a ship is sunk she becomes the property of the underwriters.

Frank Bynum, chairman of the Mallory line's eastern division at New York, said he was awaiting the five-day report and that he was in no position to state the company's official attitude until supplied with further data.

DIVER FINDS WRECK.

Hubert Grove, who worked in the 3-4 disaster on Block Island sound and who is employed by Merritt-Scott-Chapman Salvage Co. of New York, was the diver who descended to the Pinthis yesterday from the salvage tug Cricket.

He said that bodies of the crew should be easy to recover.

Grove found the Pinthis indicator net at "half-speed," must testimony of her rate of speed at the time the collision occurred.

The tanker lies on her stricken port side, with the great hole caused by the Fairfax how partial covered up by sand. So quickly did she plunge to the bottom after being struck that the fire which started aboard her and spread to the Fairfax, is confined to her bow, forward of the pilot house.

TWO BODIES IN RIGGING.

Almost the first sight he saw after descent was the bodies of two of her crew caught in rigging near the pilot house. The other 35 victims, except those on watch in the engine room, are believed to be in their quarters.

The two bodies seen by the diver may be those of her lookouts at the line of the crash.

He found windows of the pilot house open and her bridge untouched by fire, and he believes he saw part of her cargo of 300,000 gallons of gasoline, which burned on the surface for days after the crash, is still intact.

ONLY 3 BODIES RECOVERED.

Grove encountered so little trouble that he was not obliged to use marine lights in his inspection of the wreck.

The Pinthis had a crew of 39, the bodies of her master, Capt. Albert V. Gower, of Fall River, and her second officer, Charles M. Wales, of New Bedford, were recovered. The bodies of the other 36 were found floating on the surface a few days after the crash. Neither had been burned; drowning being given as the cause of death in both instances.

Dale "Red" Jackson and Forrest O'Brien, who lost the record when the City of Chicago made its famous flight recently and are aiming at a new mark in the Greater St. Louis, are they of the smiles. ## 150 TON AS LAKE VESSEL SINKS Erle, Pa., July 29 (AP)—The steamer George J. Whelan foundered in Lake Erie today, carrying 150 of her crew down with her. Six men were saved.

The ship overturned, apparently with little warning while six miles off Dunkirk, N. Y.

The crew of the steamer Amasa Stone of the Pickands-Mather fleet, picked up six members of the Whelan's crew and brought them to port here with the first word of the sinking.

Capt. W. H. McNeil of the Amasa Stone said he heard the cries of several men in the water but was able to find only six.

The Erie coast guard crew, with three boats under command of Capt. McCune, left early today for the scene of the disaster to search for more of the crew, but without much hope of success.

'Twins,' Is Dad's News Tip

Erratum: (Business of the News Tip Editor's phone ringing.)

"Hullo, say, do you pay for tips on good pictures?"

"Yes, but we do."

"Well, the best-looking twins in Boston were just born out at the Lynde-In hospital."

"Right. Who are the parents?"

"I'm a father, Patrick J. Crowley, 44 Quincy St., Roxbury."

"Boys or girls, Mr. Crowley?"

HELD IN $10,000 IN $80 HOLDUP

Harry B. Mowatt, 27, of Belmont st., Cambridge, who claimed to have become a holdup man in order to pay alimony, was arraigned in Concord district court today.

Mowatt pleaded not guilty to the larceny of $80 from the Avery & Murphy filling station at Concord, assault with a dangerous weapon, unlawful appropriation of a motor vehicle and carrying a gun.

At the request of his counsel, Atty. Allan T. Dresser of Boston, the case was continued to Friday and he was held in $10,000 bail, in default of bonds Mowatt was recommended to Cambridge jail.

Mowatt was arrested in the Concord woods and was charged with the holdup when police found $81, the amount missing from the station, and a gun in his possession.

Federal officials were interested in the robbery through the theft of a mail truck in which the thief made a getaway.

Mowatt told police he has been out of work for two years and staged the robbery so he could continue payments on the court order issued in Third District Court at Cambridge.

'DAILY BARNY' IN SCHOOL ENDED, SAYS TOBEY

Gov. Charles W. Tobey of New Hampshire, in Boston today, said a new chairman of the board of trustees of the State Industrial School, Manchester, would be appointed shortly as an aftermath of his charges of barbarous treatment of girl inmates there.

"I have brought the facts to the attention of the public," Governor Tobey said. "Mr. Emerson has been removed and his successor will be appointed in a very short time. The incident of the human treatment, so far as I am concerned, is closed."

He issued a statement in Concord last night, detailing the condition. In it he said:

"Mr. Emerson states that he had full knowledge of the punishment used at the school, and that nothing was done to change him without his consent. By this remark he acknowledges responsibility for what was done. He also states that it is not true, and has absolutely denied, that any punishment is used at the school that is barbarous or savors of the dark ages."

"On each of my several visits to the industrial school I took witnesses with me, and I cite the following details of punishment applied at the school in the past, but which have since ceased on orders from me:

"Whippings: Girls in the adolescent period have been laid on a bed, or made to lie across a large laundry basket in the attic of the girls' building and had physical punishment administered on their naked flesh by application of lashes from a piece of rubber piping or tubing with a wooden handle on one end, to the extent of from 100 to 250 strokes. In some cases so many strokes were given that one attendant had to relieve another in applying the strokes.

"The water cure, so-called: This was administered by placing the girl in a shower bath compartment, stripped naked except for bloomers. The cold shower overhead in turn was turned on and a garden hose is used to play cold water from a nearby faucet, full force, direct upon the naked body, the hose being held but a few feet from the girl. By testimony of the attendant who usually applies this punishment, she plays it in the girl's face to 'sort of strangle them."

"Very deep appreciation is also felt for the very kind and generous offer of assistance, notwithstanding the fact that the Royal Government has declined with extreme gratefulness all offers to send relief to the stricken population, the Fascist government having already taken all necessary measures to this effect."

Gold Star Mothers Get Poor Treatment

New Bedford, July 29—Despite the general approval of the Gold Star Mothers' trip to France, New Bedford women, who returned home today, were none too enthusiastic about the way they were treated on the way over to France.

Out-and-out discrimination was charged on the trip across.

Mary A. Howland, 121 Mt. Vernon st., this city, was the only one who would talk for publication. She declared the women were actually treated with contempt by many of the American tourists on the steamship Republic on the way across.

They were not allowed to go down to the tourists' deck, they were not at all welcome in the recreation room, and they were the subject of insinuating remarks during meals, she declared.

She further pointed out that signs forbidding the mothers to go down to the tourists' deck were up all the way over.

Things were radically different on the way back, however. The return trip of the New Bedford group was made on the steamship America and the women were given every liberty the ship allowed.

On the trip over, Mrs. Howland said, things were so noticeable that a number of fellow-passengers in task for the shameful manner in which the elderly women were being treated.

OVERSEA RADIO TELLS U. S. OF DUKE'S RUINS

New York, July 28—America heard the voice of suffering Italy last evening as Philip Lemont, special correspondent of Universal Service, described the devastated regions, speaking from Senator Guglielmo Marconi's yacht Electra, anchored in the Mediterranean, 59 miles from Rome.

The broadcast was arranged through the courtesy of Senator Marconi, inventor of the wireless, cooperating with the Italian Radio and Universal Service. It was relayed to the offices of the National Broadcasting Co. in New York and distributed through 35 American stations.

Senator Emanuele Grozzi, the Italian consul general, Senator Mario Santo Vincenzo, acting consul general, and Prince Francesco Ruspoli of Italy were among the little group of radio officials and press representatives who gathered in the offices of the National Broadcasting Co. to hear the commotion from across the sea.

Forty-five minutes of radio preceded the description of the disaster, during which time Senator Marconi chatted amiably with Philip Lemont.

Mr. Lemont was introduced by Frederick K. Aldrich, correspondent of International News Service.

Mr. Lemont spoke of the wonder of the wonderful way the relief is being carried out.

"In most villages," he said, "I found a most fraternal spirit existing between the populace and the soldiers. I might say that not a day has passed in which they have not been fed by the soldiers."

"All the dead have been buried. Every wounded person, of which there were 4500, is now comforted in well-kept hospitals, either in Naples or in other places."

"Food is flowing regularly and plentifully into the area. The greatest difficulty the relief workers have to contend with has been the water supply."

Threats that he would be "taken for a ride" just like Oliver B. Garrett, were made against Hyman P. Weiner, of Froendland st., Mattapan, store fixture dealer, it was revealed today by the police of Station 1.

Weiner, who recently entered the store fixtures business, believes some disgruntled competitor is responsible. A letter signed "Handic" warned him to keep away from auction sales "if you know what's good for you."

The letter read: "Gentlemen: Keep away from the auction sales. If you know what's good for you, we know that you have nothing behind you and that you are working only on sheer nerve. You remember the case of Oliver B. Garrett, who was taken for a ride, and if you continue with your bidding at the auction sales the same will happen to you."

Weiner stated that he would continue to frequent auction sales despite the warning.

LONDON LAUDS MARION DAVIES

London, July 28.—The daily news paper critics here follow the New York writers in their praise for Marion Davies, whose latest film, "The Gay Nineties," ("The Flamingo Girl" in America), had its premiere in a midnight show at the "Empire" Theater.

The Daily Mail critic said today: "Marion Davies looks more burning in this piece than ever have seen her. Her contrivances give a lovely air to the absurd 'flamingo' bodies and abundant petticoats, whose reproduction in fancy portrait albums invariably gives us chuckles. She is the quintessence of pertness on the screen. The picture shows an air of exuberant spiritfulness, yet never descends to archness. Again, her acting makes you think she's out on a huge look. She cheers you and makes you forget your lesser worries."

R. R. Littlewood, writing in the "Lancet" paper, The Reviewer, says that in the old days, one always was certain whether the visual idol made sense in the ideal when speech arrived, but:

"Now that we have heard Marion talk, both on and off the screen, we really do not need those little reservations. However a Marion Davies has always been everybody's secret. Now that we know she's just as charming with talk as without—if not considerably more so—all that remains is to let the public share in these critical confidences."

Most important is the fact that Mrs. Davies is a fine artist, capable of conveying a gentle and nobly agreeable personality through almost any medium. "The Gay Nineties" is a deliciously comic ideal, just kind of picture in which Marion, with her smoothness of sympathy and good-natured grace, can express herself.

Antioch Robbed by Two Gunmen

Lawrence, July 28.—Arvid Palm, 27, of Mill st., Dudley, was robbed by two armed gunmen who took him of $16 in cash as he sat in a parked car on Burley st., near the famous Morton Prince estate last night.

Palm, seated in the car with a companion, stated that two men suddenly appeared from the darkness and demanded of him, demanding all his money. He turned it over to them in a struggle.

Daily Antique No. 157

A serpentine front San Domingo mahogany chest-on-chest, one of the most beautifully preserved and finest examples of American furniture of the period, will be among the pieces displayed at the loan exhibition under the auspices of the Metropolitan Museum of Fine Arts in New York at the Wentworth-Gardner house in Portsmouth, N. H. The loan exhibition is that of the pre-Revolutionary period, and the bonnet top and claw feet are of unusual interest. The exhibition will be open until August 6, and is held for the benefit of the Family Welfare Association.

Boston Evening American is publishing daily photographs of interesting antiques. Owners of antiques of Colonial or early American origin or of historic association are invited to forward photographs and records for publication. If a photograph is not available, the American will send a camera man to photograph the antique, providing the owner lives in Greater Boston. ## Tropic Ocean Belt Has No Oxygen Washington, July 28 (U.S.)—Discovery of tropical waters of the Pacific in which there is practically no oxygen was revealed by O. W. Torrey, navigator and executive officer of the ill-fated magnetic ship Carangue, here last night.

Speaking over a National Broadcasting Co. network, Torrey said of the last cruise of the Carangue which, in 20 years, covered 20,000 miles only to be destroyed by fire at Samoa last November. Describing the discovery of oxygenless water, Torrey said: "Beginning 300 feet below the ocean surface and extending downward for 100 feet, this water lies in a band 10 or more miles wide, which extends for a great distance east and west."

Since fish require oxygen to live, this region may prove a barrier to the movements of fish and affect the food fish supply, Torrey pointed out.

Another outstanding discovery was that all assumptions as to the circulation of water in the Pacific have been wrong.

"This knowledge will undoubtedly be important to those who are studying the climate of the United States and other countries bordering upon the Pacific and who are helping us to solve."

BROOKSIDE MILK

BETTER Than GRADE "A"

To you, the housewives of Greater Boston, "Better than Grade A" should be a significant and compelling phrase. The conditions required in the production and distribution of Brookside Milk are more exacting than present Grade A standards require. Pasteurized and bottled at the Bellows Falls Co-operative Creamery, Brookside Milk is twenty-four hours fresher than the average delivered milk, a factor which gives to its fresh, rich, clean flavor. Possessing a cream content of over four per cent, it has exceptional richness. And when the price, thirteen cents, is considered, it is obvious that Brookside is a milk value unexcelled.

SOMETHING TO THINK ABOUT

Editor Boston American:

Revising old Colonial costumes and wearing them upon stated occasions in Greater Boston is a great incentive to admire modern dress.

This Tercentenary year has taught Bostonians one matter that it is better to live in 1930 than to have lived in 1630.

It was the women who suffered most in Colonial times. The Puritans did not have the same regard for women that we of this generation encourage. They thought that they were the "weaker vessel." They kept fingering Bible passages of this nature against them. Some of their descendants, alas! have not yet outgrown that rating.

But the dresses of women now, their cosmetics, their accomplishments in so many fields of adventure make evident that it is a great privilege to be living today with short dresses, short sleeves and exposed backs in V-shape. Those of us who have seen old Colonial apparel feel like weeping over our sisters burdened with Colonial styles. It is well that they did not know a modern dress.

Tree Sitting and Monkey Evolution

Editor Boston American:

Now that the tree-sitting endurance contests are in full swing, I have formed the following conclusions:

In the first place, I now realize that nuts are not the only things that are on trees.

In the second place, I am now beginning to consider the theory that man originated from monkey. (Evolutionist.)

Says Dry "Monster" Not Dead, but Waking Up

Editor Boston American:

I am inclined to disagree with Mr. J. Collins, who, in Saturday's American, sees the recent dry rallies, etc., as the "death throes of a dying monster." As a matter of fact, the monster is just waking up and it will show its true colors in the coming elections. The monster has the backing of the people, a people that have kept quiet for 10 years but are now awakening to the realization that quietness will not win a victory.

Mass meetings, dry rallies and votes will win, so prepare for a dry year from that monster. He can roar and he will.

He Urges U. S. to Keep Away From Foreign Powers

Editor Boston American:

I cannot understand why our country will allow ourselves to be dictated to by us. We should be the ruling power of the world. In fact all the powers should look up to us and seek our advice. Our subjects are always flocking over to our country to make a living. That in itself is a great proof. We should be 100 per cent independent. I have written on this one point before. Keep aloof from other powers, have a friendly spirit for each and every nation, but play no favorites.

In the past we read enough of England's power. Now let it be our turn. Let our Uncle Sam rule the air and sea. It isn't mean, in a domineering way it is. In the past, but a real business way. The London Naval Treaty is an English joke with the truth as we see it. The English are here are unbecomingly in the way of the world. I don't mean that we should have a chip on our shoulder looking for trouble, but if it should come to a show down, let us be in the pink of condition either on land, sea, or up in the air. We are 300 miles away from them. We are a little wiser by ourselves in a way. We rise from the maelstrom. Let us remain that distance.

JAMES J. REYDEN.

Disagrees With Statement by Ex-President

Editor Boston American:

I read the other day that former President Coolidge let this saying out from his fertile brain:

"When a duty comes to us with it comes a power to enable us to perform it."

That looks good at first sight. Duty comes to many a man. He struggles with it. He stays up late at night to find out where he is going to get that power to enable him to succeed. Some men get it. Some never get it and many more never will. It is a power and is not in every man. If he had conditioned such a great, this letter would not have been written. But he makes a general statement about duty and the possession of a power which means never get it. Some are capable of handling, and like good many utterances of noted men snap under close examination. N. M.

HOOPER PLANS VACATION ON AUG. 10

Washington, July 29 (U.S.)—President Hoover plans to begin his vacation tour of the West about August 10. It was indicated at the White House today.

He will leave almost immediately after the meeting of the Republican national executive committee, scheduled for August 7. He will probably remain away until about September 1, although this is not definite.

The President would leave within the next few days, it was stated, except for the fact that he intends to go on the job until the scheduled reorganization of the G. O. P. is completed.

The President is anxious to bring about harmony so that the committee may launch the campaign for the November elections with a united front.

Whether the President will let politics creep into his proposed vacation for "rest and recreation" only has not been determined.

Just now he plans to make his trip a brief tour of some of the national parks and keep away from the large population centers. However, from the several invitations he has received, he may accept one or two of them.

The President was unable to avoid the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad, over which he will travel, except what day he will leave, but he has not yet decided to leave a day of two in advance.

THE GARDNER-WHITING HOMESTEAD, HINGHAM

Gardner is a name common in Hingham. From this town the Gardners of Plymouth, Court originated. The name was recorded as early as 1640 in New England, when Edmund and Thomas were made freemen. The name was recorded as early as 1640 in New England, when Edmund and Thomas were made freemen. The name was recorded as early as 1640 in New England, when Edmund and Thomas were made freemen.

MARRIED IN 1647

The name Whiting appears in Hingham annals as early as 1647. The record of his marriage was two spellings of the name, but the same family was the ancestor. The record of his marriage in Mary Bates is made in 1647.

Thus these two families are among the very earliest settlers of New England, later they intermarried and the progeny settled that point known as Liberty Plain. They were large landholders, relatives scattering to Scituate, Abington and Hanover, then under one government.

Hingham is one of the oldest towns in Massachusetts. It was founded by a man named Bearroove. Bearroove, probably the latter, was the exposed harbor at low tide. Settlers came as early as 1632.

The oldest homestead, a low shaded dwelling with outhouses, is now occupied by a lineal descendant of the Gardners and the Whittings. It has given shelter and service to these families for more than 225 years.

The streets which form the corner upon which it stands, one a highway and the other intersecting are called after these families—Gardner and Whiting st. One of these thoroughfares is the main highway No. 3 which leads to Plymouth and the Cape. Hingham and the surrounding territory owe much to these first settlers who have been loyal to their home town and their ancient homestead through many generations.

NAB 50 LEADERS IN 3 GIGANTIC DOPE RINGS

Washington, July 29 (AP)—Forty-two Assistant, acting director of narcotics, announced today that division agents had arrested the ring leaders of several gangs who have been importing millions of dollars worth of narcotics from Turkey.

Twenty arrests have been made, he announced, and the leaders of each ring are held.

He said the largest gang was headed by Tony Lapina, who lives on Long Island and is known as "Black Tony." Lapina and Frank Tesoro were arrested in New York. "Boss" Versace and Joe Reportis were arrested in New York. San Jerez, Joe Anzeloni and Pete De-Quigley were taken into custody in Washington. Narcotic agents reported they had 60 ounces of heroin.

J. A. Swinford, alias J. A. Kincaid, alias John Red, was captured in the Woolworth building in New York.

ADmits HE LIED ABOUT MOONEY

San Francisco, July 29—In a courtroom surrounded with drama and tension, John McDonald, pale and shaken, today admitted before the California Supreme Court that he had lied against Tom Mooney and Warren K. Billings in 1936. His appearance marked the climax of a long fight for freedom by Mooney and Billings, who were sentenced to hang for the 1916 San Francisco preparation day bomb outrage.

The seven justices lost little time and formality when they filed into the court room, minus their black gowns, and took their seats as individuals at the council table.

Chief Justice William H. Waste called upon McDonald to take the stand, and within a few minutes the story of his confessed perjury was coming from his lips.

Shifflily directed by Justice John W. Preston, wartime United States attorney in San Francisco, the trembling witness recited the graphic details of events which he said led to his identification of Mooney and Billings as the perpetrators of the bomb explosion which took 16 lives and injured 40 other persons.

4 CUP YACHTS IN FINAL TEST

Newport, R. I., July 29—The final workout of the four sloops contending for the right to defend the America's Cup against Shamrock V will take place off this port this afternoon.

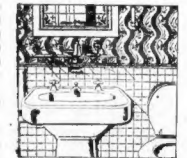

Three of the great white-winged yachts were out on the America's Cup courses yesterday and went through a vigorous drill in all points of sailing for nearly five hours. The only absentee was the Thorne-McManus syndicate yacht Whitwind.

Westman, Enterprise and Yankee put out of Brenton's Cove early in the afternoon and it was dusk before they returned. Their skippers and crews had hoped that yesterday would give the cup yachts a real test with the various changes in rigging they have undergone since the last observation trial two weeks ago.

But the wind was light and spotted and flickered from east south-east to due east and would up late in the day blowing in feathery fashion from the northeast.

Musical Fish Takes Own Harmonica in His Stomach

Chicago, July 29 (AP)—If some automobiles are equipped with radios, why should not fish have built-in harmonicas? The answer is, according to Walter Oberly of this city, that they apparently are beginning to come that way.

At least a large-mouth bass that Walter caught in a nearby pond had a single-scale harmonica in its stomach. The fish has been eaten, but Walter has its harmonica, slightly rusted, to show as evidence to any who doubt.

John L. Beat Paddy Ryan in World's Title Battle

BOSTON EVENING AMERICAN SPORTS

THE RING WAITS IN VAIN FOR ANOTHER LIKE THE GREAT JOHN L.

SULLIVAN'S ENEMIES TRIED TO FORCE MITCHELL AND JACKSON TO THE FRONT

By JACKSONWAY

Enemies of John L. Sullivan at times set up a cry that he was not heavyweight champion of the world. Their statements were not founded on fact and so failed to carry weight with the public.

The records of the prize ring prove that the famous "Baton Strong Boy" was king of the heavyweight division from 1882 until 1892.

Charles Mitchell of England and Peter Jackson, the Australian, are the two men who contested Sullivan's title claim.

John L. was heavyweight champion of the world as he won the title from a champion, and was never beaten until he met the youthful Jim Corbett at New Orleans.

It is true Sullivan was held to a draw by Mitchell and refused to meet Jackson, but neither of the men won a decision over him during the bout he held his title. And a champion keeps his title until beaten in the ring.

Jack Donney would not meet Harry Wills much like Sullivan passed up Jackson, but nobody ever contested the old Tiger's right to call himself champion.

The first world's heavyweight championship bout was held at St. Louis in 1869. It brought together Tom Allen, best of English heavyweights, and Mike McCool, the outstanding American fighter.

Allen lost on a foul in a ninth round, which made McCool the American champion.

FOULS IN OLD DAYS
It can be seen that modern boxing is not pulling anything new when they commit fouls. The practice is as old as boxing.

There was a demand for a new meeting between Allen and McCool. It was staged in 1871. The title was won by Allen who later signed to battle Joe Goos.

This contest was staged late in 1873 at Covington, Ky. In the 27th round Allen committed a foul and Goos became heavyweight champion of the world. Allen had a very good batting average, but he came to losing bouts on fouls.

At this time Allen was the only one in the world who was in the ring for boxing on a large scale. Before and since, the other European countries had a few "bouts," but they were not taken to a great deal. They lacked proper training and could not compete on even terms with the more seasoned men of England and America.

With Goos, a son of England, firmly entrenched, the American weight throne, American sportsmen sought a suitable challenger. They decided on Peter Ryan, who had punched his way out front in the heavyweight division.

Ryan challenged Goos and the latter agreed to meet him. The bout was staged at New York, N. Y., in 1880.

Ryan was developed into one of the most famous battles in the history of the ring.

WON IN 8TH ROUND
Goos was a great fighter, but in Ryan he was opposed by a man who was determined to smash his way to the title.

The fight was a hard fought one, but Ryan was victorious. He won in the eighth round by knocking Goos out.

It did not seem as if the two men could stand up under the punishment which had been absorbed by Ryan and Ryan.

Ryan made a desperate effort in the eighth round. He was badly hurt, but he was not beaten. He was knocked out in the eighth round.

Ryan, the American, was heavyweight champion of the world. He was shortly after Ryan's victory over Goos that John L. Sullivan came roaring down the field trail.

Sullivan was soon challenging Ryan. "It knock the champion out!" was John L.'s shout.

Sullivan offered to make a side bet of $1000. This landed him the match, which was staged at Mississippi City, Miss., on February 7.

The bout was held under London prize ring rules, and John L. won by a knockout in the ninth round. The "Baton Strong Boy" became heavyweight champion of the world as a result of his crushing victory.

John L. was king of the heavyweight division because he had stopped the champion.

Lephare Winner of Stewards' Cup Race
Goodwood, Eng., July 22 (AP)—Alma Kitchin Lephare today won the Stewards' Cup in the Goodwood steeplechase.

The Stewards' Cup, valued at $2000, and other trophies, was the first of the meeting opening today.

John's Fighting Memory was second, and Signor Fanny De Dada's Song was third in a field of 10.

The Stewards' Cup was won by John's Fighting Memory, who was ridden by J. J. Goss.

Ryan, the American, was heavyweight champion of the world. He was shortly after Ryan's victory over Goos that John L. Sullivan came roaring down the field trail.

Sullivan was soon challenging Ryan. "It knock the champion out!" was John L.'s shout.

Sullivan offered to make a side bet of $1000. This landed him the match, which was staged at Mississippi City, Miss., on February 7.

HERE IS JOHN L. when years added curves to his lines and led to his hands. Corbett K. O'd him soon after this picture was taken.

STIRLING TO BOX CAMPOLO

Scott's fighting days closed with the count of 10 last night, the reviewers stressing the fact that the public never could enthrone over "Painting" Phil even when he won. Stirling, through his victory over Scott, earned the right to challenge Max Schmeling for the world's heavyweight championship.

Donohue feels Stirling Should Get Shot at Title

New London, Ct., July 22 (AP)—William L. (Young) Stirling of Mecon, Ga., conqueror of Phil Scott, British heavyweight, by a two-round knockout last night, had more than earned the right to challenge Max Schmeling of Germany for the world championship, believes Thomas E. Donohue, Connecticut boxing commissioner and chairman of the championship committee of the National Boxing Association.

By disposing of Scott in clean-cut fashion after the muddled bout between the Briton and Jack Sharkey in Miami, Fla., Stirling has done much to clear the air, Donohue declared today.

Stirling on his showing last night, should be the next opponent for Schmeling, Donohue. "He certainly is entitled to a shot at the championship ahead of Jack Sharkey, who deserves no consideration at all after the manner he has made of his three glances."

"I am glad that Stirling has abandoned his safety first methods. It was the only thing that was holding him back. Otherwise there can be no doubt as to his ability."

"If Stirling sticks to his newly adopted style, I am inclined to believe that he can whip Schmeling."

LYNN GIRL KIDNAPED FROM AUTO AND HELD PRISONER SIX HOURS

5 MEN DRAG HER FROM ESCORT

To Near Collapse When Freed
Near Her Home: Police
Seek Abductors

Miss Dorothy Daily, 19, of Lynn, was kidnaped by five men from her escort's side in an auto parked in Tedesco street, Swampscott, today, and held prisoner for six hours.

Then she was driven to a spot near her home in Washburn street, Lynn, and released in a state of extreme exhaustion. Police were searching the woods for her abductors.

Anthony Theriault of Swampscott drove to the Swampscott police station at 3 o'clock this morning and reported the kidnapping.

He said he was in his car with Miss Daily in Tedesco street when the five men, who were armed with pistols, approached the car. Two, he said, approached, and ordered the driver to get out of the car. When he got out they seized him and the other three seized the girl and dragged her from the machine.

He said he struggled but could not free himself and that Miss Daily, still struggling, was held captive. He was then dragged into the car, which sped away.

A squad of Swampscott police went into the district and a search of the woods was made without finding trace of the kidnapers.

The girl reached her home about 8 a. m. today and expressing nervous shock, was unharmed.

He said her captors drove her to Peabody and that four went in swimming while the fifth guarded her in the car. All were partially intoxicated, and by use of her wit she was able to save herself from harm.

After the swim at Peabody they drove her about Lynn and Swampscott and finally to a point near her home.

Gold teeth showing in the mouth are often looked upon as a disgrace. The only way to avoid this is by having a set of teeth that are as natural as possible. Dr. Newson's modern system of porcelain restorations for missing teeth is the only one that is as natural as possible.

GARRETT 'SEEN' WITH BLONDE ON SUNDAY

Randolph Woman to Be Questioned on Tip From a Farmer Detective

questioned, District Attorney William J. Foley announced today, following receipt of information that Oliver B. Garrett, fugitive ex-police man, was seen in her automobile in Provincetown Sunday evening.

This information came from a former private detective now living in Provincetown.

"I know Garrett well by sight, having seen him several times during the Hilt Hotel trial at the Suffolk County court," said the detective.

"I saw him Sunday about 6:30 p. m. in a motor with a blonde woman. They were leaving Provincetown on the main highway toward the shoulder of the Cape and Boston."

The informant gave the registration number of the automobile, but admitted some doubt about one figure. The number he believed it was about the car registered to a Randolph woman. The number which he thinks it may have been, is 1-10-10. The number he believes it was about the car registered to a Randolph woman. The number which he thinks it may have been, is 1-10-10.

Can You Do Your Housework?

If you are not as well as you want to be, if you are weak, nervous or rundown, give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a fair trial. Take at least three bottles. It will tone up your whole system and help you to eat better, sleep better and feel better.

Mrs. Marie Vriesenga, 2002 Lexington Ave., New York, New York.

"My work is keeping a rooming house in New York. I was weak and tired and didn't seem to feel well at all. Some friends told me about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I took it four times a day. It has helped me very much. I feel better in all ways now."

Ask Your Friends

Mrs. Paulina Pascuzzi, 316 Tremont Ave., East Orange, New Jersey.

"I never had any appetite and I could not sleep well, and I was irregular and often suffered from headaches because of my age. I read a booklet left at my door, and so I took eight bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I have also taken the Herb Medicine. I feel stronger in every way now. I have gained weight and am not nearly so nervous and can do my housework without getting too tired."

Edna Shursif, 1129 Daly St., Philadelphia, Pennsylvania.

"I was completely rundown from nursing. I took four bottles of your medicine with very good results. I have been a nurse for twenty years without losing a patient. I am proud of your medicine and I recommend any of the Lydia E. Pinkham products at any time and you may use my name."

LOOK-COOS

According to President M. E. Newman, speaking at a session of Rotary International, "It has been predicted that sounds originating hundreds of years ago may be distinguishable to the human ear."

All those convinced that the crying need of this century is a few more sounds will kindly step forward and bend over in the proper posture.

But on the other hand, some originating hundreds of years ago might drown out those originating just around the corner.

It would be a lot more thrilling if somebody would predict the sounds could be made undisturbable to the human ear until a hundred years later.

NOTE ON THE WEL ONES

Scientific ideas wild
On just how to raise a child
All appear somehow to reach
In the vast and cosmic maze
Unto little brat to do
What they cannot do to you.

Difford B. Bimble, Chamber of Commerce statistician, was being congratulated at every turn today for his frankness and honesty demonstrated in a big way last night when he yawned in the middle of his own speech.

STATE OF THE UNION

Lamar had an election. Menno that nobody could remember. A water inspector notices of electric signs days ago for the Grid. At the last minute, Monday, when a guy suggested "I'm going to put in a line, and about the election tomorrow" after he'd been down and out in a liner, reminding those to attend the election that had already been held.

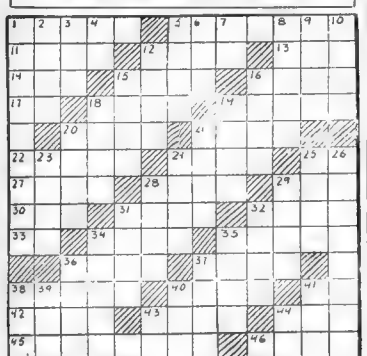

It goes to prove that nobody is so out to vote.

So that's what it proves.

"Poverty isn't eliminated yet," says the El. Rev. Mr. Wiler, "but it's getting over and more respectable."

No Blind Santa Claus

City Cannot Throw Away People's Money

Mayor Curley threatens to suspend needed public improvements unless the owners of some of the condemned property bolster the gun they are holding at the city's head.

Too many serious issues are involved in this matter to permit it to escape frank discussion.

A city should be generous with its people. In all its relationships it should set the model of fair-dealing. It should be the example which the citizens themselves would emulate in their relationships with each other.

But it should be neither a blind Santa Claus nor a sugar daddy. Once it fixes in its own mind the value of property to be seized for the good of public developments it should stick to that price and be away by neither political pressure of the insiders nor a sophisticated liberality which would win for it not gratitude but derision.

Government is looked upon as fair prey by too many people of evil design. "Soak Uncle Sam; he can stand it," has attained the stature of a popular slogan.

These people who serve on juries and vote away the city's money in these eminent domain cases with a prodigality unbounded should begin to realize that they have a duty to their city, to themselves and to their neighbors. It is not the city that pays these extortionate prices. They themselves pay for it, in taxes, in rent or in the things they buy.

Moreover, the people of the city need these improvements for their convenience, for the relief of unemployment and for proper expansion of Boston. Anyone who stands in their way is guilty of disservice.

Scolding Our Aliens

Heckling and Abuse Make No Friends

It is almost time that someone clapped a gag into the mouths of some of our "super-patriots" and stopped this incessant scolding of our foreign-born citizens.

We have too many banquet orators who earn the price of their dinner by heckling up the American flag, bombastically assailing "the alien" and bravely threatening to deport them on the next ship that sails.

If they had an ounce of brains in their heads they would know that it is not heckling, nagging or unkind abuse that begets love and affection. Our new citizens become enamored of America in proportion to the extent of kindly consideration that is accorded them.

The editor of the Springfield Republican lately observed that it is not the direct descendants of the Puritans so much as it is the descendants of races that did not come to the Mayflower or Arborea who are making such a splendid success of our Centenary celebrations.

The latter are bearing the heat and struggle of the day while too many of the former areolling in the ease of their estates, unmindful of the patriotic significance of these exercises which commemorate the creation of free government.

Don't Desecrate the Flag

Keep It Out of the Prize Ring

Public sentiment everywhere will heartily endorse the demand of the American Legion State convention at Bridgeport, Ct., that the American flag should be kept out of the prize ring. No spectacle is more disgusting than that of the Stars and Stripes draped around the middle of some man fighting in what is correctly considered the most corrupt branch of American sport.

Many States, officially or unofficially, have banned the practice. There is no excuse for permitting it anywhere on American soil. The Legion performs a service in protesting against it, and if necessary the national government should enact legislation to bar it absolutely. Desecration of the national emblem in one of the dirtiest rackets in existence sickens every decent American.

Frog Pond Democracy

Don't Fail to See Young America There

Boston Common is internationally famous for its cowpath and soapbox row, where oratory, genuine and alleged, may flow unobstructed. But how about the Frog Pond? It has a league of Nations beat a mile. If you want a real kick out of life lounge on one of the settees for half an hour any sunny afternoon and watch the kids whose blood flows back to twenty different nations sport happily in the pond together, playing without racial discord and tongue-tied, their little bodies to take on the work of full-fledged citizenship of tomorrow. America is made out of this.

Dancing for No Pay

New Department Is Needed

Three young couples dance for a week without stopping, the promoters of the so-called marathon fail to pay them, it is charged, and they appeal to the State Department of Labor and Industries. They should be referred to the Department of Useless Occupations, there to be joined by the tree-sitters, endurance rockers, and the like.

McINTYRE ABROAD

By O. O. McIntyre

THE HAGUE—My ideas of Holland were plucked chiefly from Dutch Cleanser ads, and music revue numbers featuring bright red windmills, a chorus in starched blue pantaloons, wooden shoes and baggy caps singing "Tulip Time." Windmills are still here, but costumes might be by Moe—walk up and save $10—on Sixth ave.

Only peasant children wear wooden shoes any more—pink checked spot with its heavily-shaded streets, rows of brilliant lights, shining knockers and white rose bushes with blood-vined leaves. Why will we live in cities? The Hollanders with flaxen hair, cold blue eyes and high coloring strike you at first as phlegmatic and unemotional. We have all heard the jeer—"a wooden-headed Dutchman." Yet no mortal could live such a close-knit family life without an extraordinary sentimentality. But here is The Hague.

My first impression of The Hague was not of the peace symbolizing Holland's unflinching neutrality, or of its aristocratic wealth of international lawyers in frock coats and high hats carrying gold-knobbed canes. I shall remember The Hague for two things: The hotel balcony in a uniform of light blue who came down hotel steps to meet us wearing white spats, and projecting window mirrors that permit housewives to see everything in either direction along the sidewalks without leaning out their windows.

The Hague's stiff aura of culture fairly crackles. On the veranda of The Wiltburg, where I dined half way through an Edam cheese, there were at least 13 gentlemen who could pass for Charles Evans Hughes. The ladies were silver-haired forgetful lifters and conversation was in polite whippers.

The Park ave. of The Hague is a promenade with triple roadways, bicycle paths and a road canopied with leafy oak branches. It is called "Oude Schaveningse Schiedweg." Unless the fellow I asked was overcome with a sneeze. On the walk I saw a van load of men in what appeared to be one of our patrol wagons. I was told it contained the Queen's night shift of servants. The Queen's palace is at the end of the "Oude," a simple two-story structure of pure English design in white stone.

Leaving The Hague, we passed through Rotterdam. The hurried drive revealed blocks of bay-windowed flats over shops, streets fairly clogged with bicycles and cottages on thin canals with entrance foot bridges and lift gates brightly painted. One of the streets we traveled was Schiedamsche Dyck—pronounced She-dam-shike—and I can't quit saying it.

Nearing Amsterdam we went through Haarlem, for which New York's Harlem was named. I wondered if people there had ever heard of Florence Mills.

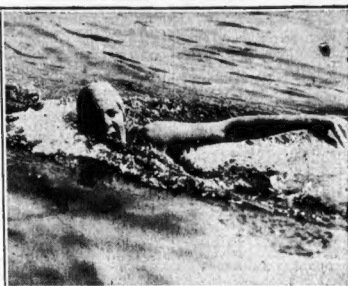

Moreover, it has little to do with evolutionary progress, because the crossing of distinct varieties is a rare occurrence in nature. Reversion is only observable under highly artificial conditions.

A Northwestern Wonder

Here is a Match for Helen Wills Moody, Bobby Jones, Eric Pedey and Anybody Else

HELENE MADISON, SEATTLE HIGH SCHOOL GIRL, ENGAGED IN HER FAVORITE OCCUPATION—WINNING ANOTHER CHAMPIONSHIP

You have heard of many wonderful things from the magnificent Pacific Coast. They have out there three kinds of "gold." There is the yellow gold that Uncle Sam makes into gold pieces, with his stamp on them.

There is the "black" gold, oil coming out of the ground, worth a thousand times more than all the yellow gold.

And there is the "white" gold, the power that rushes down in waterfalls—a power that is, indeed, gold, since POWER IS WEALTH.

That "white" gold will rush downward, enriching the coast, running the machinery of thousands of factories, giving well paid work to millions of men, centuries after all the "yellow gold" and "black gold" shall have been taken from the soil.

In one place, not far north of Seattle, there is one single unit of waterpower capable of developing more than twenty million horsepower.

The wealth represented there staggers imagination. Don't fail to go to the Pacific Coast. Don't fail to visit Seattle, Washington, Oregon—the whole shore that runs from the edge of Canada down past San Diego to the edge of our friendly neighbor, Mexico.

This particular editorial is written to tell you that Seattle, one of the most magnificent cities in the world, offers not only sources of wealth inexhaustible, opportunity for enterprise, ambition and capital, but is also one of the world's best health resorts.

This charming high school girl, busy winning another championship, is offered as "Exhibit A" in the Seattle record as regards the healthfulness of Seattle's climate and that of the whole magnificent State of Washington.

Helene Madison is the name of this Seattle high school girl. She has collected many swimming championships that she forgets many of them. This adds four championships for her stiring at the National A. A. V. meet at Long Beach, Cal., recently.

Swimming requires every good quality possessed by the human body.

You must have a powerful heart, marvellously developed lungs, strong muscles, a nervous system that will withstand the depleting effects of cold water, and, above all, "COURAGE TO KEEP GOING."

This young woman, most marvellous girl swimmer in the world, has all these qualities, and more.

Go to Seattle, young men. There are thousands of such girls in the State of Washington.

Marry one of them, if you can; work hard to be worthy of her, and live happily ever after.

Listen, World!

By ELSIE ROBINSON

He Went Up a Ladder

HE WENT UP a ladder.

That didn't mean much to

Theodore Craig. Going up

ladders—even five

story extra-story

ladders, was as easy as the day's work in his job as

Los Angeles

fireman.

Fireman—

they do things like that—and we let them.

And so, when the Chief assigned young

Craig to practice drill, he looked the lad

up and said: "Climb

as fast as you can—this is a matter of course."

Like to do it?

Probably not.

What normal man wouldn't find five-story extensions—with the empines snarling beneath you and only a ty's grip between

And Nothing! Not exactly a plein for even the strongest men.

There's a fellow to do! Suppose

there were a little kid

there—or a feeble old woman—or he might be called—

Up and up... and up...

One story—two—three—

They weren't making noise—

They were ailing with a terribly tightness, down there below—

as though by their very gaze they would hold him steady—

They were holding their breath—

But his step never faltered—any more than it would have faltered

if he had been climbing up to a child—

Up... up... up...

Three stories... four... five.

A speck against the blue—

A tolling speck... nearing... nearing the top...

A young man rising above the streets... rising above his fear...

climbing the ladder to what?

The sequel of slipping wood—

A gulp of horror.

The ladder crumbled!

A streak of darkness through the air... a smear of darkness on the stones—

The practice drill was over—

Theodore Craig had been called—

He had climbed the ladder—to God.

Some day we'll die, you and I.

Go out, perhaps as quick as that.

I wonder how. Will we go lying soft in a bed or standing as in a street?

Or will we go, as a fireman goes, mid-air? Go, as we're climbing the ladder of courage to duty—the dangerous ladder of courage and ac-cility?

And those who watch us will say

"He died."

But will we, of a sudden, at our find life? And hear a voice speaking through the smoke and flame—

"Well done, dear child. The practice is over. The ladder is climbed. Come home!"
